CUBA: HAVANA JAZZ FESTIVAL

For so many, Cuba is synonymous with jazz, and this is never more evident than during the country's famous Jazz Festival as the music dominates Havana from Teatro Nacional to the smoky bar just down alley. The beauty of the five day event lies in the fact that the music is everywhere – creating the sense of one continuous song – as the notes blend together near seamlessly while you meander through the city.

Start your trip off with private rooftop jazz performances, guaranteed seating each night, cocktails during the festival, and more. While your nights are spent at the festival, spend your days immersed in local music and arts centers, tobacco farms as you learn from farmers for a day trip to the countryside, walking tours of Old Havana, Hemingway's former home, and so much more.

The 2024 lineup has yet to be announced, but past performers have included popular artists such as Chucho Valdés, Daymé, Joe Lovano, Snarky Puppy, Charlie Haden, Roy Hargrove, and Telmary. Check back with us for updates!

DISCOVER THE HAVANA JAZZ FESTIVAL

The Havana Jazz Festival is Cuba's most well-known music event featuring some of the most popular up and coming musicians from Cuba and around the world. Each year, dozens of local and internationally renowned jazz performers gather in the Cuban capital to collaborate, improvise, and jam. The people fill the lively city of Havana with music and dance for this six-day celebration. This lively atmosphere spills out far past the concert halls, with impromptu jam sessions satiating jazz lovers along the streets late into the night.

A WORLD RENOWNED MUSIC FESTIVAL

Havana's Jazz Festival is an unparalleled wonder in the world of music. Over the course of several days, hundreds of concerts and master classes will take place, with less emphasis on order and structure in favor of spontaneous, collaborative music-making. Experience a full spectrum of musical styles including Afro-Cuban jazz, danzón, traditional trova, concert music, mambo, bolero, and more.

TRIP HIGHLIGHTS

MURALEANDO

During your time in Havana you'll visit Muraleando, an inspiring community art project in the barrio of Lawton. This was once a deprived area, hit hard by the economic difficulties of the 1990s. Then, out of an old water tank, was born this forward-thinking art project, which inspired local kids to get off the streets and get creating art, learning techniques like painting and printmaking and traditional Cuban arts like salsa dancing.

VIÑALES VALLEY

Perhaps Cuba's most picturesque spot is the serene Viñales Valley, a peaceful area of karst cliffs, fertile farmland and traditional communities. The bounty of this land includes tobacco, bananas, sugarcane and coffee, and you'll get the chance to meet local residents and learn about their life and work. We'll also enjoy lunch at an organic farm, visit a beautiful orchid garden, and explore the Cueva del Indio, an ancient river cave.

FUSTERLANDIA

Often compared to the wild works of Picasso and Gaudi, Fusterlandia is an ongoing art project located in the town of Jaimanitas. The artist, José Fuster, began painting the streets and buildings as a way to give back to the community and create a place where he could "live with art." Soon, the town became a hidden wonderland for all to enjoy, making Fuster one of the most celebrated artists in Cuba. It has been said, "if you're looking for a place that captures the true resilience and spirit of the Cuban people, look no further than Fusterlandia."

FINCA VIGIA (HEMINGWAY'S FORMER HOME)

For American visitors, the life of Ernest Hemingway is inextricably linked with Cuba. He made his home here, on and off, between 1939 and 1960, at the hilltop property of Finca Vigía in the Havana neighborhood of San Francisco de Paula. The house has been kept more or less as he left it, allowing for a fascinating glimpse not only into times gone by, but into the life of a literary legend.

Our visit will culminate with a delicious lunch overlooking the valley alongside the staff of the farm, before a free night to explore the town. (B,L)
